

REMARKS

The specification has been amended as indicated above to correct typographical errors in the amendments filed on October 2, 2007. Specifically, a division sign has been added to the equations set forth on page 8 of the specification, and a “μ” symbol, which had been misprinted as a “□,” has been correctly printed in Tables 2 and 6. Applicants maintain that these amendments to the specification do introduce any new matter. Accordingly, applicants respectfully request that this Amendment be entered into the application.
